Electrons form a circle - the circuit

All electrons move around the circuit

Game stops when battery is flat and has run out of bundles of energy

Electrons pass through the battery again and receive another bundle of energy

Electrons (without energy) continue on

Electron hands the bundle of energy to the globe, which then lights

Each electron carries the energy around the circuit to the globe

A bundle of energy is handed to each electron as it passes through the battery

Students become electrons